Introduction

By Aurel Bacș

Every one of us regularly acquires products; mostly rather standard consumer goods, but also, from time to time, objects that will hopefully last for years and decades to come.

It can be a piece of furniture, an historic car, a handmade suit, or a fine watch. Whenever such decisions are to be made, the challenge is to identify the right one, given the many parameters involved. In most cases, there is not just a right one or a wrong one. There are multiple options. These can vary in size, shape, material, design, and of course, price. Some may be very fashionable, others rather conservative. Every one of us has to bring in line their personal taste, practicality and, whether we like it or not, the budget. To me, in recent years, fashion and trends have become less important and were gradually replaced by the appreciation for quality and timeless design. Whereas in today's society I hear often, "more is more", to me, my respect for "less is more" continues to grow. Many of my personal choices are now motivated by this credo. When it comes to timepieces, I often ask myself the rhetoric questions of "how much watch do I really need?"

To me personally, the Day-Date does it all. If I was sent away from home for one year and I could only take one watch with me that would be a perfect companion for business meetings, swimming on the beach, formal and casual wear, the Rolex Day-Date would certainly be one of the most promising and competitive finalists in this selection process, for sure.

Since its presentation in Basel in 1956, the Day-Date has always been automatic, water- and shock resistant, and has reliably indicated the hours, minutes and seconds; on top of that, the day of the week and date! Its timeless design has effortlessly survived all fashion trends our planet has seen since then, while at the same time fitting wrists of all sizes.

Speaking of Basel 1956, the Day Date celebrates officially its 59th birthday this Spring 2015. So why have we chosen 60 examples for this themed auction instead of 59? While examining hundreds of rare and unusual Day-Dates with Pucci Papaleo, my dear friend of 20 years and one of the world's best-known scholars and authors in the field of Rolex, we have noticed that the very earliest examples carry serial numbers which can be confidently dated to 1955. Does it mean that the historians got it all wrong and that the Day-Date is older than we all thought until now? No, certainly not! Simply put, it makes perfect sense that Rolex started making their first batch of Day-Dates quite some time ahead of its official launch in 1956. Like a baby born in spring of 1956, we all know its conception lies somewhere in the summer of 1955.

Whereas technically the Day-Date was one of the most perfect and completely mature of all watch designs at its introduction, Rolex never hesitated to push the boundaries one step further, year after year. Not only has the Day-Date seen numerous improvements, but Rolex had the vision and talent to adapt the Day-Date to each era; to different markets, for different lifestyles and cultures, but also, to different budgets.

Consequently, the Day-Date is today probably the most universally known and beloved watch, and has reached a level of style, elegance, and desirability that few other watches will ever see.

It is mythical, out of the ordinary, and glamorous. Did I just say glamorous?

I wish to thank Pucci Papaleo for partnering with me for a second time around and for sharing his incredible passion and knowledge with us. I am equally grateful to all the collectors and Day-Date aficionados around the world who have agreed to entrust us with their wonderful Day-Dates for this auction. It is my sincere hope that these hand-picked 60 examples of the most Presidential of all Rolex models will take you on an inspiring journey and that you will not hesitate reaching out to us in case you would like us to be your travel companion.

The birth of a new star?

By Pucci Papaleo

Ironically, when it comes to the watchmaking industry, even today some people still obstinately consider it in terms of numbers; how many parts does it take to make a movement, how much is the total carat weight of the diamonds set on a case, how much does the carbon bezel weigh, how much time does it take to engrave an arabesque finish on a plate... Actually, this form of communication is a wild card, given the necessary connection with objective elements which are inevitably destined to change: there will always be someone who will build a movement with more components, a watch case paved with more diamonds or create a lighter bezel.

Therefore, no wonder that so many people, in both previous and recent times, tried to give a rational and numerical explanation to the success of Rolex timepieces.

Oddly enough, the close contact – dare I even say horological osmosis – for over two decades with the historic watch production of the Geneva based company was so inspiring to convey to me a completely different sensation, which I may basically define as emotional, rather than scientific. As a matter of fact, Rolex never relied on numbers as such but looked beyond for perspective, eager to understand what people wanted on their wrists. The Day-Date is the ideal benchmark. Released in the mid '50s, a time caught between reconstruction and economic boom, it immediately became the ultimate elegant timepiece: technically simple yet strikingly innovative, due to the day and date indication, and highly recognisable being crafted in precious metals. Moreover, yesterday as well as today, it reflected the personality and the character of those who wore it. Further attention must be focused on this last relevant detail. Nowadays, all the biggest watch producers strive to offer us unique models, special series, customised editions. Over half a century ago, Rolex embodied all these features in the Day-Date model with no need to boast about numbered editions or celebrity dedicated watches.

The Day-Date was never dedicated to Dwight Eisenhower but he personally chose to wear it. The same must be applied to John F. Kennedy, Gerald Ford, Frederich Gulda, Martin Luther King, Brad Pitt, Bono Vox, Brooke Shields, Alec Baldwin, Russell Crowe, Roger Federer, Boris Yeltsin, Fidel Castro... apparently, it is said that even Mao Tse-tung loved wearing a gold "President".

The Day-Date has seen an extraordinary variety of dials, watch cases and bracelets. The result is a unique and exclusive wristwatch, although always faithful to its own identity. It is no coincidence that in order to tell a complete story of this timepiece, we have been "forced" to realise a volume of approximately four hundred pages, "Day-Date, the Presidential Rolex", portraying its development process based upon the attention to details and search for the unusual.

One last consideration: while leafing through the pages of the book or participating in this auction organised by Phillips, you may think that a new star is born.

Actually, for 60 years the Day-Date shined on its own, showing the way of the exquisite watchmaking to those who are culturally and economically capable of recognising it. Yet again, the others will just have to accept the inevitable.

The Presentation Box

By Jean-Paul Menicucci

A couple of months ago, when I met with Aurel and Pucci to discuss the project of a thematic auction and they offered me the possibility to be part of it, I felt so honored. When they disclosed that the theme would be about the Rolex Day-Date, my eyes lit up with delight by the idea that I could create something for an event that is linked to my favorite watch since I was a child.

With my full passion and commitment, I accepted the project without any hesitation.

My passion for Rolex watches, and for the Day-Date model in particular, has had a huge impact on my artisanal efforts and my profession, which is transforming very prestigious leathers to develop a range of products for watches, such as straps, boxes, pouches, watch rolls, and even customized safes specially made for watches and precious objects.

My role in this project was to design and realize the boxes accompanying each lot. Analyzing the 60 watches in this thematic auction, I have realized once more that within Rolex's product lines, the Day-Date is the model with the most variations in terms of case materials, dial colors, stones, indexes... the list goes on and on.

Understanding the daring nature of the Day-Date encouraged me to create the daring colours used for the boxes, matched in an equally daring way to each watch. The box's round shape has been carefully considered; as I wanted to laser etch on the cover an accurate representation of the Day-Date dial, reproducing every key detail, from the hands to the Day aperture, to the 'cyclops' date window. All together offered in an array of different colours of suede leather.

I have always thought that when you present a gift, the packaging itself plays a very important role in the emotional impact of the object within. My objective was to elicit a very strong curiosity and enthusiasm that, when presented with this box, a person can't wait to open it to discover what's inside.

My collaboration with the team was a great pleasure because we are all linked together through a common trait, PASSION.

1. Rock Stars

LOT 1 - 4

The Rock Stars in this chapter all feature dials made of hard stones, encompassing many forms of quartz and crystals. The term derives from the Italian “Pietre Dure” that covered all hard stone coverings and is characterized by the stones attractiveness especially when utilized in jewelry.

Aligning with tradition, Rolex incorporates a variety of different hard stones in their dials to add colour and beauty to their horological creations. In addition to their beauty, these materials most often carry strong spiritual meanings and properties. People often use stones to ground themselves, deriving healing and beneficial properties from the materials. Amongst the dials seen in this collection, the materials used have specific properties that are thought to aid the wearer beyond their beauty.

The “Talisman” uses Jasper – known as a nurturer, it brings tranquility during times of stress. Marble, while not traditionally considered a jewelers medium, is beautifully utilized in “Roman Marble”. Considered to be a cleansing stone, marble imbues the watch with strength and graceful beauty. The onyx of “Black Jack” contains properties wherein it is thought to assist the wearer with challenges in life and protection of personal energy. Opal is a stone of inspiration. Found in “Stardust”, it’s known to enhance imagination, creativity and also memory.

Working with hard stones is a delicate and time consuming craft making examples of these Rolex dials very rare. What could be more attractive to any collector than such a timepiece combining beauty, rarity and protective beliefs?

The innumerable light reflections given by this glamorous stone creates a powerful visual effect leaving us spellbound. Yet another extraordinary and rare dial, showcased in this Day-Date manufactured in 1990.

The opal displays gold printed writing and no hour markers. The natural stone-made dial showed the "Superlative Chronometer Officially Certified" script at 6 o'clock.

This COSC certification establishes that an automatic watch provides an average daily rate of  $-4 / +6$  seconds in 24 hours; the Day-Date was the first Rolex wristwatch to display such certification as well as one of the first timepieces ever to do so. The date is enlarged 2.5 times by means of the magnifying Cyclops lens. Moreover, the winding crown allows a quick setting of both date and day of the week.

The natural stone-made dials were named by Rolex 'special dials' and were part of a small series not listed in their 'Master Catalogue'. During the Eighties, this selection of dials was proposed to retailers who wanted to offer a more exclusive and elite Day-Date version to their clients.

The dial of this incredible timepiece is made of jasper. Further notice must be given to the absence of hour markers. Besides what could appear simply a matter of style, it was rather the need to restrict as much as possible the workings on the dial in order to preserve its integrity.

This 18038 reference dazzles us with its magnificent state of conservation. The metal displays perfectly shaped bevels as well as mint brush finished surfaces, rendering the watch in extremely well preserved original condition.

Ferrite, howlite, aventurine, diaspore, onyx, lapis lazuli, mother of pearl, pink coral, tiger's-eye, malachite... It is quite hard to list all the stones used to craft the dials in the Day-Date's history.

Nevertheless, the reason why Rolex introduced these timepieces is crystal clear: render each single wristwatch unequalled and unique. This striking Day-Date manufactured in 1991 perfectly exemplifies both features. The black onyx dial displays gilt graphics.

Particular attention must be given to the absence of hour markers since the only holes made on the dial are those for the hands and both date and day openings. The superb overall state of preservation of both case and bracelet greatly underscores the collectable interest of this Day-Date.

This stunning yellow gold 18238 reference made in 1998 is fitted with a highly rare and important white marble dial featuring a closed minute track and applied Roman hour numerals.

Technically speaking, the challenge of keeping the natural stone's surface intact is truly remarkable due to the material's delicate nature. In fact, the process consists in drilling holes and openings in order to fit metal elements, such as the indexes' inserts and the day and date window's frame.

The 3155 calibre is the latest generation mechanism, featuring the double quick-set date function which allows a rapid adjustment of both date and days of the week.

2. True Colours

LOT 5 - 8

“Stella” dials represent the spirit of Rolex in its most playful and delightful form. Expressed through a brilliant range of stunning, truly colorful dials produced for a limited time during the vibrant 1970s and 1980s, the fact that they were ever produced by the famously conservative brand surprises many newcomers to vintage Rolex watches. Fabricated using Rolex’s impeccably high standards, multiple layers of lacquer combine to form deep and rich colors with highly reflective surfaces often mistaken for porcelain or enamel.

Likely inspired by the liveliness of the decades in which they were produced, Rolex offered a range of powerful colors: Ox blood, turquoise, pink, orange, hunter green, mint green, black, blue, burgundy, red and the rarest of these – yellow.

Rumors abound in collectors’ circles regarding the origin of their nickname. Latin for “star”, Rolex bestowed them with the name “Stella” due to the dazzling brilliance they emit when subjected to any type of light.

The production of the Day-Date reference 1802 started in 1959. Sporting a smooth bezel it was released in platinum and yellow, white or pink gold.

Placed under a spotlight, the pictured example manufactured in 1970 represents an interesting collectors piece due to its extraordinary conservation state, further enhanced by its perfectly preserved shapes and surfaces, together with its originally preserved polished and brushed finished components.

The 18 karat yellow gold Jubilee bracelet bears the 6311 reference. The original box and warranty certification render this timepiece highly desirable for a discerning collector.

The 1556 movement was introduced in 1965 and featured a 19'800 beat per hour frequency replacing the previous 1555 mechanism. Since 1972 the movement was further improved by means of a hacking mechanism, which allowed a precise time-setting of the timepiece.

3. Of Royal Provenance

LOT 9 - 12

Rolexes with the Khanjar on the dial are known by collectors as “Khanjar” or Qaboos” and exist as some of the most highly sought after wristwatches. The national emblem of Oman, the Khanjar, is a traditional dagger originating from the country used for ceremonial occasions. The inclusion of this on the Rolex dial renders this an extremely rare timepiece.

These watches were direct commissions from the Sultan of Oman, His Majesty Sultan Taboos bin Said al Said, who was well known for his enthusiasm for horology and his own formidable collection. His Majesty was born on November 18th of 1940, the only son to then Sultan Said bin Tamur and Princess Mazoon al-Mashani. He studied in India under the former President of India, Dayal Sharma and at the age of 20 began his military training subsequently joining the Royal Military Academy in Sandhurst in Camberley, Surrey, England.

His Majesty Sultan Taboos bin Said al Said ascended to the throne on July 23rd of 1970. His reign has been one of great success: modernising his country with oil revenues, strengthening international relations and creating firm advances in healthcare, education and infrastructure.

The pieces he ordered were personalised, either with the image of the Khanjar superimposed upon two crossed swords surmounted by a crown or with His Majesty’s signature, and given as gifts to loyal servants and foreign dignitaries. Due to their nature, few have appeared on the open market making them even more desirable and rare.

The 1807 reference produced from 1959 to 1977 exhibits 'bark finished' decorations both to its bezel and President bracelet. The present timepiece dates back to the early Seventies and has been made upon special order for the Sultanate of Oman.

The dial reveals the unmistakable national Omani emblem representing the Khanjar dagger inside its sheath placed upon two crossed swords, which in this case is unusually printed in black.

Externally, the case back, still bears the green Rolex sticker showing the 1807 reference, as proof that this important wristwatch arrived to our present days superbly preserved.

When a timepiece features a variety of highly collectable elements, we experience what we could call “collectors’ ecstasy”. This sensation is perfectly exemplified by this gorgeous Day-Date, manufactured in 1978, which showcases a lavish green Lacquered Stella dial bearing the red printed Omani emblem and enriched with diamond hour markers.

These customizations, currently so beloved by collectors throughout the world, were requested by emirs and sultans who nearly always attended British schools. At the beginning, the London jeweller Asprey was the Middle East representative and was directly in touch with those wealthy and demanding customers. Subsequently, Asprey sent both orders and graphic drafts to Rolex, the company in charge to put into practice the crafting of these objects. The reference 18048 sports an 18 karat yellow gold case and bracelet, and it is fitted with a white gold bezel adorned with 46 round cut diamonds. The use of white gold further enhances the shimmer and sparkle of the gemstones.

When a wristwatch manufactured in 1975 arrives to us in a perfect state of conservation, the occurrence is quite unusual. Additionally, if the timepiece is a pink gold Day-Date displaying a burgundy Stella dial with a green printed Khanjar and the case back bears the initials of the Muscat dealer Khimji Ramdas in Oman, then as a matter of fact it is extraordinary.

This 1804 reference features a bezel embellished with 46 round cut diamonds. The dial is further enriched with 8 round cut diamond hour markers and 2 baguette-cut diamond markers. The bracelet is embellished with round cut diamonds and the winding crown is in white gold.

The bracelet is embellished with three center links set with two round-cut diamonds and the fourth with only one stone, a configuration never seen before on a President bracelet.

The case back is internally engraved with the serial number, usually stamped only between the lugs at 6 o'clock indicating, that the timepiece was made by Rolex upon special order.

4. Octopussy

LOT 13 - 16

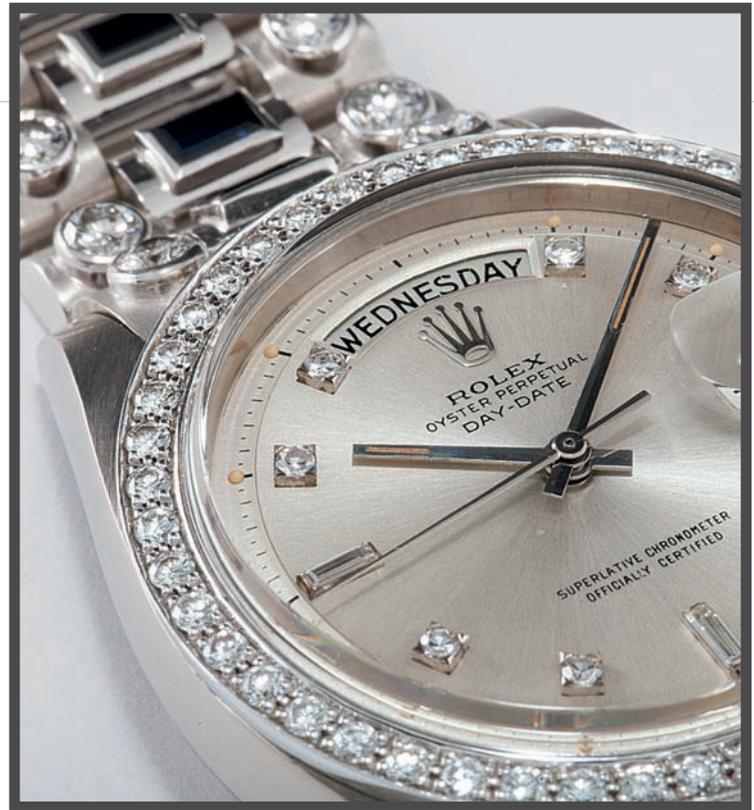

Rolex's most lavish and most exclusive version of the President bracelet produced in the 1970s and 1980s featured one large diamond or precious stone on every single link. Round brilliant-cut diamonds on each outer link were set in unusual cylindrical settings, flanking a center link set with a baguette-shaped precious stone. The cylindrically set diamonds prominently rise high above the links, and resemble the suction cups of an octopus's tentacles, leading collectors to frequently refer to them as "Octopussy".

Octopussy-style President bracelets were also offered on Rolex's Oysterquartz model - a line introduced in 1977 using Rolex's own, in-house made, high-precision quartz movement. Catering to those who perhaps preferred the higher timekeeping accuracy that quartz regulation enables, these models featured a thinner case and bracelet with sharp, modern angles matching the cutting edge technology found within. Rolex fitted their Octopus bracelets with smaller round diamonds in settings that lay flatter, smartly proportioned with the slimmer profile of the bracelet and case.

These are Rolex's most prestigious Day Date watches from the era in which they were produced, making any watch in this chapter a true trophy for a discerning collector.

“Rolex is not in the watch business, we are in the luxury business”. This famous quote of André J. Heiniger, Rolex SA President from 1963 to 1992 and successor of Hans Wilsdorf, is properly exemplified by the present yellow gold Oysterquartz Day-Date realised in 1987.

This gorgeous piece is preciously adorned with a baguette-cut ruby set bezel and fitted with a bracelet embellished with externally placed round cut diamonds and rubies set on the centre links. The dazzling ensemble is so sumptuous as to represent the utmost desire.

The champagne dial incorporates the Oysterquartz writing centrally placed between the Rolex and Day-Date scripts. Furthermore, it exhibits round cut diamond hour markers.

The Day-Date Oysterquartz model was released in 1977. It fits a sapphire crystal and is powered by an electromechanical quartz movement calibre 5055, featuring 11 rubies. The reference number is internally engraved on the watchcase under one of the lugs, due to the integrated bracelet that prevents the traditional placement.

5. Fade to Black...

Rolex never stopped reinventing the Day-Date. In the 1970s, they introduced dials with vibrant colors at their centres, fading to a nearly black color at their outer edges. With their bold colors, attention is first drawn to the center of each dial. The beholder's eyes then follow the direction of the pleasing fade, where they find all timekeeping and day and date indications. This dynamically varying tone earned them the nickname of dégradé, or 'vignette' dials. The word vignette, according to Wikipedia, is used by photographers to describe an image perfectly clear at its centre while fading off at the edges.

The most exceptional of these dials were fitted with diamonds applied along the dial's darker region, providing a stunning, contrasting background that maximizes the brilliance of each diamond. Each dial has a unique personality, giving them a classic and personal style through their dynamic character.

THROUGH THE SPECIALIST'S LOUPE: Dial close-up showing hour-markers with two diamonds

THROUGH THE SPECIALIST'S LOUPE: Excellent case proportions and tight fit of sapphire-crystal

From its first catalogue introduction in 1956, the Day-Date undeniably embodied the Rolex symbol of class and elegance. Many possible combinations were given by the variety of dials and case materials, the innumerable bezel patterns and the different bracelet assortments. This 18038 reference manufactured in 1983 shows a perfectly conveyed timepiece able to convey a remarkable visual aesthetic impact.

The yellow gold case creates a contrasting effect with the amazing brown dégradé dial. The distinguishing feature of these lacquered 'dégradé' coatings is the centripetal gradual colour fading. Furthermore, the dial is adorned with round cut diamond hour markers.

This example shows an immaculate overall state of preservation, with unpolished case and bracelet and its original warranty papers. As a result, the ensemble of these features bestows an outstanding charm to the present timepiece.

6. Pure Geometry

With the intricate, geometrical patterns found on these extraordinarily rare dials, Rolex expressed their creativity and style in a fascinating, yet subtle manner. All dating to the early 1960s, each was “engine turned”, a precision crafted technique using automated pantograph machines - a mechanically linked system that traces the pattern of a large surface, and identically engraves it onto the surface of a much smaller object. It’s a technique first used in watchmaking by Abraham Louis Breguet in the late 18th century to engrave a tiny, secret signature into his dials to prevent forgeries.

A close examination reveals that their patterns are perfectly uniform and symmetric, reflecting the accuracy with which Rolex fabricated them. The finely textured surfaces formed by the engraved channels capture and brilliantly reflect incident light, creating a playful and delightful variability to the appearance of each dial as lighting conditions change throughout the day. They illustrate Rolex’s experimentation with lines and forms, ranging from the very traditional, “clous de Paris”, or paver stone, pattern used for centuries to embellish cases, to the angularly radiating lines found on the “Brooklyn Bridge” that express a vision towards the future.

Upon a closer look, this amazing yellow gold 1803 manufactured in 1960 leaves us mesmerised, and we experience a true sensational feeling. What distinguishes this piece is not its technical mastery, but rather the artistic bravery in realising the extraordinary dial, which shows a geometrical pattern recalling Michelangelo's square on the Capitoline in Rome.

The results are perfectly harmonious matched with an 18K yellow gold bracelet exhibiting a highly linear tile link pattern.

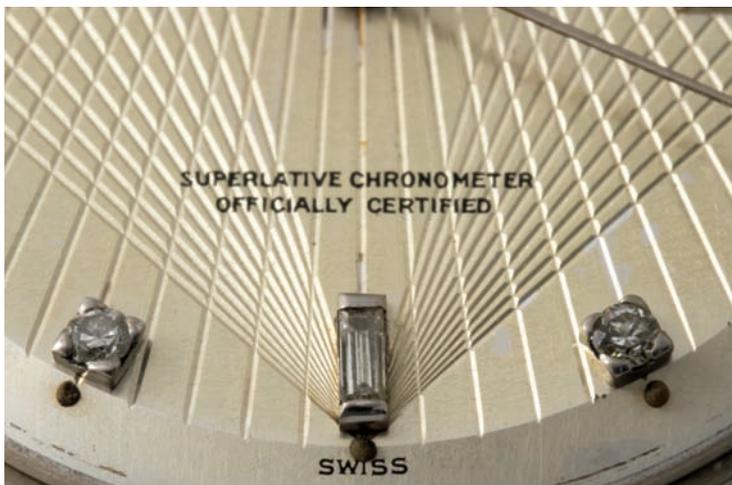

The 1803 reference presented a new case slightly more slender compared to those of its forerunners and fitted a more reliable movement, the 1555 calibre, featuring an 18'000 beat per hour frequency.

7. The Arabian Knights

LOT 23 - 26

Due to insatiable global demand for its watches, Rolex offers bespoke versions of the Day-Date with custom day and date wheels in a variety of languages. During a short period from the 1960s and 1970s, Rolex went above and beyond in its customization for one market in particular. Fitted with Arabic-script applied markers, Rolex offered these bespoke dials for the Middle Eastern market that are now one of the rarest and most coveted dial variations for the Day-Date.

Rolex, demonstrating its superb marketing savvy, chose a generic version of Arabic script, known as Arabic-Indic numerals, that is easily understood by all Arab countries. The watches in this chapter illustrate the variety of these rare dials, with solid, white gold, yellow gold, or even rose gold numerals. They adorn two Day-Date watches with magnificent, “tapisserie-finished” engine-turned dials, a yellow gold reference 1811 with champagne-colored dial, and a platinum reference 1804 with an elegant silver-colored dial.

Exceptional, unusual, and unexpected, these are precious “Arabian Knights” of the Rolex collecting world that would fit perfectly within an important Rolex collection.

This wonderful Day-Date made in 1975, appears before our eyes in all her powerful beauty dressed in glittering yellow gold. The production of the 1811 reference began in 1966.

The bezel is decorated with a linen-textured pattern and is slightly differentiated from the 1806 reference, which features a linen-textured finish on both case and bezel.

The champagne coloured dial is ultra-rare, showcasing gold relief applied Arabic script numerals and an English day wheel.

The superbly preserved case still features sharp-angled edges and is further enhanced by a beautiful overall state of conservation. This unusual bracelet is hand crafted and bears the reference number 6764.

8. La Baguette Magique

LOT 27 - 29

Casting a spell with their remarkable beauty, the watches of the La Baguette Magique chapter are fitted with rare dials combining round brilliant diamonds with baguettes made of precious stones that span nearly their entire circumference. The baguettes, like mysterious “baguettes magiques”, or magic wands, captivatingly glow thanks to Rolex’s use of highest quality emeralds (Earth), sapphires (Wind), rubies (Fire).

Rolex has used these gems to both physically and emotionally highlight their masterpieces of timekeeping. Diamonds are seen to absorb and amplify the thoughts of its owner. Emeralds are meant to aid in fertility. Rubies represent love and protect from bad health as well as giving one good luck. Sapphires have long been associated with peace and happiness.

Whereas the “Wind” and “Fire” examples are found in classic 18 karat yellow gold Day Date watches, “Earth” is fitted into a rare ‘Tridor’ model. The Tridor features an exquisite bracelet with outer links made of white gold and special centre links in which the metallurgical experts at Rolex perfectly fused three different colors of gold - yellow, rose, and white.

The 18038 reference, produced between 1977 and 1988, is characterised by an 18K yellow gold case and bracelet, and by a fluted bezel. Following the introduction of these models fitted with sapphire crystal, the fifth and last digit of the reference indicates the metal of the case in 18k yellow gold.

The charming champagne dial is further enriched with baguette-cut rubies and round-cut diamond hour markers.

Rolex launched the sapphire crystal in 1977 which was fitted onto gold Day-Date, Datejust and Turnograph models as well as Oysterquartz models. The sapphire material is much harder than the previously used acrylic glass, therefore far less likely to get scratched.

With the examples found in this chapter, Rolex proves it has mastered the art of being daring. Like fireworks, gems explode in a kaleidoscope of color and light, imbuing each watch with radiant brilliance and vibrancy.

The “Snowflakes in Spring” and “Tangerine Roulette” are graced with pavé diamond studded lugs, factory fitted with diamonds of varying sizes that follow the Oyster case’s sensual, sweeping curves. Their dials are spectacular, with meticulously set micro-diamonds spanning their entire surfaces.

“Lucky Wheel” and “Deep Blue” delight with exquisite baguette set bezels that shine as if they are harnessing the power of the stars, whilst “Pepita Red” dazzles with a brilliant red Stella dial set with baguette and round brilliant diamonds. It is further enhanced with a simply superb factory original bracelet with links that resemble little gold nuggets.

Reference 18388 is known for featuring diamonds not only on the bezel but also on the four lugs of the case. It was then optional to the first owner to choose between the standard gold president bracelet or more lavish versions, some with

The most stunning feature of the “Tangerine Roulette” offered here is the dial, composed of a pavé set centre and outer ring, and a prominent coral orange or tangerine coloured enamel sector ring divided by the interspaced gold hour markers.

Both the Rolex and Day-Date logos are printed on raised gold platforms. Another exceptional particularity of this dial are the enamel segments surrounding the week day and date apertures.

The lapis lazuli dials have no hour markers. They were fitted with a unique hand design, gently tapering gold hands with a dark enamel insert. The gold frames for the date and day apertures are another enhancement to this dial and were reserved for the most elaborate of all hard stone dials.

From its earliest references, Rolex introduced the presence of precious stones on the Day-Date, proving that they could master the art of being daring.

These glamorously glittering versions became soon very popular status symbols amongst celebrities, however, the common denominator was always the model name, Day-Date.

“Snowflakes in Spring”, made in 1997 and bearing the reference number 18338, is fitted with an amazing champagne dial adorned with diamonds and emerald hour markers. The case is further enhanced with diamond-set lugs giving the present example a radiant brilliance and vibrancy.

A closer look highlights a distinguishing feature: the absence of the ‘Superlative Chronometer Officially Certified’ script to leave the stage to the dazzling gemstones.

10. Officially Certified

LOT 35 - 39

Since its formation as a company in 1905, Rolex has had a relentless focus on precision timekeeping, going the extra mile to have the accuracy of even its earliest watches certified by an independent third party. Rolex's noble dedication to accuracy, still in full force today, not only helped the brand achieve its unmatched success, but also was instrumental to the success of the wristwatch.

Every Day-Date watch sold was a chronometer, officially certified as such by the independent Swiss organization now known as Contrôle Officiel Suisse des Chronomètres, or COSC.

When originally sold, the paperwork accompanying each Day-Date included an important, and often lost, official Rolex certificate that articulated the terms of Rolex's one-year guarantee against manufacturing defects. Elegantly punched at the top right with a "Chronometer No.," the certificate also certified that the watch's movement had indeed undergone 15 days and 15 nights of rigorous testing - earning their designations as precision chronometers.

Accompanied by their original guarantee certificates, these watches exemplify how owners of the prestigious Day-Date model tend to cherish them. Combined with their rarity and outstanding condition, the presence of these documents enhances their desirability. They are, therefore, highly coveted Day-Dates for those discerning collectors who appreciate original paperwork.

What feature renders a watch truly exceptional? Perhaps the complexity of its mechanism or rather the choice of materials and finishes? Could it be the design? Without any doubt, all are important elements. However, it sometimes can not be enough. As a matter of fact, the secret of success lies in the masterful combination of flair, creativity, personality, luck and customization.

Perfectly exemplified by this, stunning Day-Date bearing the royal symbols printed on the dial, the ensemble exposes this example as a unique and ultimate dream piece.

The timepiece was made in 1989 upon special order for the Sultanate of Oman and showcases a burgundy lacquered Stella dial fitted with diamond indexes. The day and date wheels are in Arabic. The printed Sultan insignia and crown logo are placed at 9 o'clock. The same logo is engraved on the case back.

The timepiece reaches us as perfectly new and equipped with its original and complete packaging, therefore exceptionally worthy of consideration.

LOT 39

The Oyster Perpetual Day-Date embodies the quintessence of prestige and excellence of Rolex watches.

Presented in 2008 and exclusively realised in precious metal, the design of reference 118206 undergoes a natural evolution of the Day-Date version highlighted by the unmistakable date and day openings. At the same time is further enhanced by its 37mm diameter case that renders the grandeur of this timepiece anything but ordinary.

The dial is embellished with round cut diamond indexes and two baguette-cut emeralds at 6 and 9 o'clock.

The Swiss automatic calibre 3156 movement is entirely developed and produced by Rolex, and is COSC certified. The architectural structure, like all OYSTER movements, bestows an unrivalled reliability.

11. The Beginning

The Day-Date, since its official launch in 1956, has remained, unequivocally, Rolex's flagship watch. Evoking a remarkable image of style and success for those fortunate to wear one, the Day-Date was the world's first calendar wristwatch to simultaneously display the date and day, spelled out in its entirety. Brilliantly and accurately marketed as a watch worn by those "who guide the destiny of the world", Day-Dates have been worn by more world leaders than any other watch.

Though the line was introduced to the public in 1956, the mechanism that drives the autonomous advances of the Day and Date indications was patented in July 1955. Accordingly, early examples, all bearing reference number 6511, were manufactured prior to 1956 as evidenced by their serial numbers. In this sale, we are thrilled to offer one of these early Day Dates from 1955. Initially, they were offered exclusively in 18 karat yellow or rose gold, and came fitted with an all-new, solid gold, attached bracelet with semi-circular, 3 piece links. With this so-called "President" bracelet, the Day Date was, by far, the most expensive watch Rolex ever made.

Illustrating Rolex's long-standing and unrelenting focus on timekeeping precision, the Day-Date was the first Rolex watch to have its dial printed with the now ubiquitous "Superlative Chronometer Officially Certified" text. Fitted with a self-winding movement housed in a water-resistant case, the watch was substantial when it was introduced. Its large, 36 mm case diameter, unchanged to this day, was ahead of its time. The fact that the Day-Date is still, nearly six decades after its introduction, as desirable as it ever was, is a testament to its timeless design.

THROUGH THE SPECIALIST'S LOUPE: Simple, early (pre-deployant)-clasp with applied coronet

The present Day-Date was manufactured during the fourth quarter of 1955 and therefore before the official launch which occurred in Basel in 1956. The big so-called 'Millerighe' fluted bezel, a distinguishing feature of the early examples, and the gorgeous bracelet complete this wonderful example.

Rolex was still searching for a stylistic identity, therefore the dial shows the 'Day-Date' writing placed at 6 o'clock, which is printed in red as well as the date wheel.

Early Day-Date models were fitted with a thicker case compared to the classic Datejust cases from the same period, and were more curved than those of the references that followed, which displayed squared slim lines. Moreover, these models were fitted with a 'rounded' screw-down case back, similar to the Ovettone version for improved water resistance.

Exceptionally rare and historically important, the present Day-Date is offered in outstanding original condition.

The present lot is a superb example in pink gold of the legendary Day-Date reference 6511; it is one of the earliest examples of this series ever produced, manufactured in 1955 as evidenced by the serial number 134692.

The beautiful and charismatic dial showcases the Day-Date signature classically positioned at 12 o'clock. However, the present example, coming from one of the finest collections of vintage watches, has a noteworthy feature underlining its historical importance and rarity: the omission of the "Superlative Chronometer Officially Certified" signature on the dial, a graphic element which usually characterise all Day-Date models.

Its desirability is further enhanced by the elegant and sophisticated look which renders the present Day-date a "must have" for any discerning collector.

Reference 6611 must be considered one of the rarest Day-Date models, and examples in white gold are the rarest gems in the entire field of wristwatch collecting. In fact in forty years of international auctions scholars have not even counted a handful of these treasures.

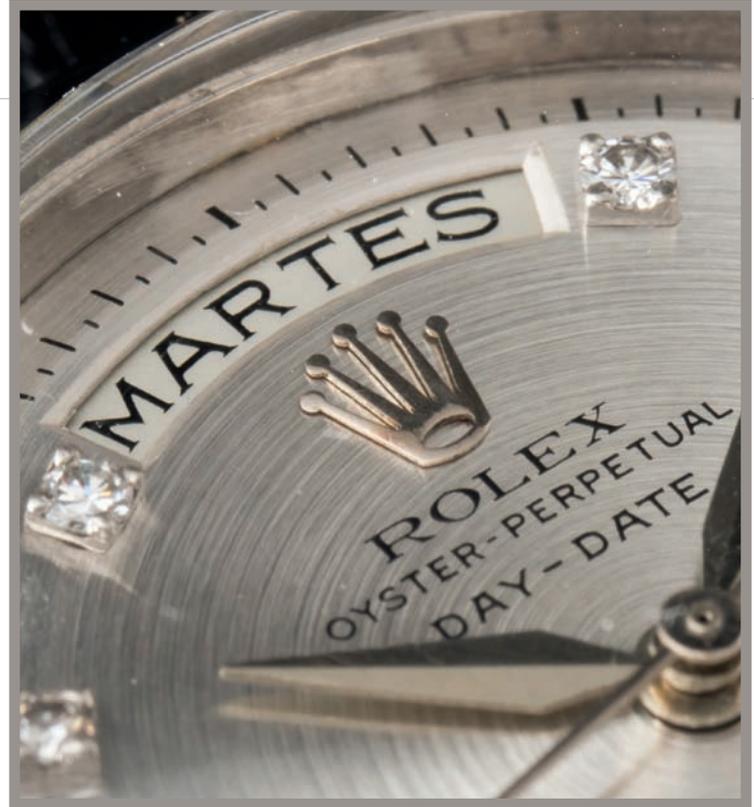

The present example, coming from one of the finest collections of vintage wristwatches, has a number of noteworthy features underlining its importance. The dial with its outer half minute track at an angle has a wonderful pale champagne patina and is adorned with 10 diamond hour markers.

Its elegance is enhanced by not being overloaded with luminous dots, a fact matching the white gold hands being non luminous as well. The Jubilee bracelet in white gold dated 1957 is equally rare. It is a treat for a collector that it is still together with the watch after more than half a century.

Few Rolex Day-Dates are as elegant yet understated and of such rarity and importance as the present one.

“Men who guide the destinies of the world wear Rolex watches”. Perhaps, to be in cohesion with the famous campaign of the ‘50s, Rolex realised timepieces such as the platinum example illustrated here.

The decision to use this precious material was based upon the objective to combine an extremely high-end product meant for the luxury world and its undeniable sporty nature.

This 6612 reference, manufactured in 1958, is one of only two examples known in platinum. Most fascinatingly, they have consecutive case numbers underlining the rarity of this reference cased in platinum. The other example is illustrated in 100 Superlative Rolex Watches, by John Goldberger, page 174-175.

It must be pointed out that the present dial differs from later productions, due to the circular finishing. Moreover, it is embellished with 8 round cut and 2 baguette-cut diamond hour markers placed at 6 and 9 o'clock.

The platinum President bracelet displays a concealed clasp and a larger Rolex crown logo. Internally, the case back bears the 6612 reference, indicating Day-Dates fitted with smooth bezels. The other marks stamped inside are the PT-0.950 marking referred to the platinum hallmark and the key which is the maker's emblem.

12. Marvels of Nature

LOT 44 - 47

In employing organic materials in their creations, Rolex has instilled in their watches a link to the wonders of nature. A material that traces the history and story of the times of life, ranging from decades to millennia matches perfectly with a modern day time keeper that records our every day life. The combination is a beautiful synthesis of beauty, science and history.

The light coral dial found in "Coral Bay" is the only example known of its kind. Coral is believed to attract love and prosperity as the stone portrays passion.

Fossils truly represent one of the marvels of nature as preserved remains of animals can be anywhere from 10,000 to several billion years old, recording the story of life throughout the eons. Fossils have been gathered not only for their historical significance and scientific value but also their beauty and metaphysical properties. They have been used to aid in curing diseases, especially ailments of the skeletal system, hands and feet. They are also believed to aid in areas of business accomplishments.

The "Ammonite" uses a specific fossil of a marine invertebrate dating from 400 to 65 million years old that were named by the Egyptians as Ammon deriving from the shape of the fossil that appears like a ram's horn. Ammonite is believed to promote general good health and also ease depression.

The Rolex Day-Date is one of the very rare watch models that has been able to surprise the market more than most other wristwatches thanks to its nearly unlimited number of case and dial variations.

The present reference 18238 features one of the most loved and rarest dial versions carved from a petrified fossil.

The result is simply stunning and its fascination stems from two facts. First it is easy to understand how incredibly difficult it must be for the dial maker to carve a thin slice of fossil then add 10 diamond settings, the gold frames for the apertures and the coronet, add the printing and finish to it, all without cracking the surface.

Secondly, the appeal this watch has to its wearer is every time when he (or she...) is reading the time and is reminded of how time is all relative. A millions of years old fossil from the past, traversed by the hour, minute and seconds hands of the present timed by the observatory tested Day-Date.

Actually, a Day-Date of the Eighties sporting a walnut, mahogany or birch burl dial, the three types of wood used by Rolex, is not a timepiece too hard to find.

Furthermore, these wristwatches are usually found in yellow gold versions. On the other hand, the present example manufactured in 1986, besides being an amazing piece, also attracts high collector interest due to its mahogany burl dial showcased in this white gold version.

Further notice must be given to the extraordinary overall pristine state of preservation. The case back still bears its original Rolex sticker bearing the 18039 reference number.

The Day-Date was the first wristwatch ever to display the day of the week spelled out in full. The date wheel of the present example shows the day in English. According to tradition, Rolex issued a choice of up to 26 different languages.

Starting from the Eighties, Rolex introduced a series of stone dials not listed in their catalogues. The materials were very fragile therefore the manufacturing process was truly complicated. However, the purpose was to render this collection ever more exclusive, granting the owners of these timepieces a privileged feeling impossible to duplicate or copy.

This outstanding 18208 reference manufactured in 1999, with smooth bezel exhibits a magnificent black Ammonite dial which features day and date apertures, diamond hour indexes and the coronet logo.

The timepiece shows an overall “as new” condition characterised by unpolished sharp bevels, warming the heart of any watch collector. Moreover, the original Japanese warranty paper further underscores the added value of this piece.

Despite the extremely difficult manufacturing process, Rolex produced for a short period of time a limited number of natural stone dials. Amongst these, certainly one of the most prestigious produced, is the coral stone dial.

This extraordinary ultra-rare yellow gold Day-Date features a soft-coloured coral dial, known as 'angel skin' and regarded as possibly the only one known.

Manufactured in 1988, the case and bracelet exhibit perfectly intact shapes and originally preserved brushed surfaces, illustrating its exceptional, mint overall condition.

The coral dial Day-Date has been named as the "Gulda" by collectors, as a tribute to the famous Austrian pianist Friedrich Gulda, who wore this version during his performances.

13. For Sharp Eyes Only

LOT 48 - 51

The details that make the watches found in this chapter so exceptional might be missed with the first glance by even a specialist. Due to their subtleties, they are proverbial “wolves in sheep’s clothing”, representing the ultimate in exclusivity. Uncommon rarity is their prevailing theme. A never-before-seen Day-Date with its winding crown found on the left side of its case is made even more desirable thanks to the presence of its vibrant Stella dial with diamond hour markers.

A close look at one dial is required to realize an exciting detail: An early Day-Date reference 6611 with German text, “Superlativer Chronometer Amtlich Geprüft”, indicates an experimental watch, and one of only a handful seen over the past 5 decades. A modern reference 118205 Day-Date initially attracts with its rose gold case and bracelet. But one look at the famous name found on its accompanying guarantee certificate illustrates its superb provenance, and the watch’s importance becomes clear.

Finally, paying attention to an elegant and uniquely styled bracelet identifies a watch made for a King by the legendary designer, Gerald Genta. Made of solid platinum and weighing in at a massive 300 grams, the reference 1831, with its stunning burgundy Stella dial, is one of only eight made for the former Shah of Iran in 1977.

This reference 6611, from the year the Day-Date was presented to the public, is without exaggeration a true gem for the connoisseur and collector of the rarest watches in the world. It is, in so many ways, completely different from its peers of the same period that the words 'unique' or 'probably unique' can be used in full confidence.

Probably made to solicit orders for the new Day-Date in German speaking countries, the Chronometer designation below the centre is printed in German, reading "SUPERLATIVER CHRONOMETER AMTLICH GEPRÜFT". Furthermore, to reinforce this theory, the calendar or week day is also printed in German. The Day-Date designation is evidently oversized and the date number is throughout in red, unlike some Datejust and GMT-Master models from the same period.

The President bracelet and the clasp, stamped 1957, is one of the earliest ever made and add to the fascination and historical importance of this Day-Date. Apparently, from a few feet distance, a regular yellow gold Day-Date of some vintage, this reference 6611 reveals its massive collectors value when studied up close.

Reference 1831 is truly a superlative watch and takes a unique position, not only within the Day-Date family but even within Rolex's entire history.

In fact, hardly any models in the crown's history are so different and made in such small quantities like the present one, particularly as late as the 1970's. Nearly every component of this watch differs from any other reference and demonstrates impressively that its development and production was never subject to cost efficiency but rather, to produce a model of "Imperial" dimensions.

In fact, scholars today believe that only eight examples of the reference 1831 were ever produced, all cased in platinum. This highly limited production was apparently reserved for the household of the Shah of Persia, whose taste and connoisseurship for the finest and most precious products was well known.

Reference 1831 in platinum weighs nearly 300 grams and sets itself apart with a number of features; The case, similar to the OysterQuartz and a bracelet design never used again on any other Day-Date. Composed of massive satin finished platinum links, it is similar to the bracelet used for the King Midas, designed by the celebrated Gerald Genta, creator of many of the world's most famous watch designs. The dial, seemingly a regular burgundy coloured "Stella" version, is completely different in size and design. The oversized diamond markers are positioned on the half minutes track (as opposed to inside, nearer to the centre).

In every collecting field there is a holy grail, in the world of Day-Date reference 1831 is definitely one of the strongest and most prominent candidates for this title.

14. Markers of Distinction

Along with timekeeping hands, hour markers are so important to a watch's overall aesthetic and character. The overwhelming majority of Day-Date watches were fitted with dials adorned with faceted, straight and narrow hour markers crafted from solid gold. With the exception of the positions occupied by the day and date apertures at 12 and 3 o'clock, these batons mark each hour, in the identical color of gold used for the applied Rolex "Coronet" found at 12 o'clock. The hour markers of Day-Date watches found in this chapter diverge from the norm, standing out with distinct shapes, sizes, and combinations. Known amongst aficionados as the "Wide Boy", the hour markers of "La Vie en Rose" are massive, with two polished ends surrounding a brushed polished channel. Visually assertive, they provide an appealing, masculine look in combination the wide hands that are fitted.

An early example from the 1950s features a black dial adorned with applied rose gold hour markers that converge to a sharp point on their innermost ends. The 6 and 9 o'clock markers stand out, with two mirror-imaged markers joined together to add a pleasing counterbalance to the day and date apertures.

Two examples, one with black dial, the other with silver dial, use a wonderful mixture of faceted batons and round brilliant diamonds. Rarely ever seen, they alternate between both in the odd and even hour positions in an absolutely elegant and tasteful manner.

Stylish elegance and nearly perfect overall condition are the distinctive features of this beautiful white gold Day-Date manufactured in 1971.

The unusual black dial displays 5 round cut diamond hour markers at 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10 o'clock interchanged with traditional baton numerals.

Further focus must be given to this magnificent dial, due to the presence of the sigma symbols at 6 o'clock placed on either side of the 'T Swiss T' writing. Introduced by Rolex for a short period during the early Seventies, the Greek symbol indicated the use of gold parts on the dial.

Reference 6511 was the first Day-Date model to feature the designation Superlative in its Officially Certified Chronometer designation. It also features the typical reeded bezel but, compared to later generations, the facets are less raised and more subtle.

This example is a wonderful representative of the Day-Date earliest years. Fitted with a black lacquer dial with copper coloured printing and scales, it is the same finish as Rolex's sports watches of the same era. In fact it is a galvanic-finished dial with the first three lines above the centre sunk whereas the chronometer designation is superimposed on the surface. These dials of the golden era are considered by many scholars the finest, most attractive and collectable specimens.

Preserved in wonderful original condition and completed by the correct period Jubilee bracelet, this reference 6511 is not only a fantastic example for the avid Day-Date collector but can be compared, in many ways, with the finest gentlemen watches produced by the world's most distinguished manufactures, notably Patek Philippe, Vacheron Constantin and Audemars Piguet.

15. Ciao Stella!

The final chapter of the sale revisits the playfulness of Rolex's Stella dials, with a focus on those fitted with beautiful diamond hour markers. These brilliant diamonds, along with the powerful and highly reflective Stella dial surfaces, draw attention and captivate with their special colours and light. Dials fitted with diamond hour markers required Rolex to use specially made hands that sit higher above the dial to permit unimpeded timekeeping.

Fitted in cases made of 18 karat yellow gold, pink gold, white gold, or platinum, the colours Rolex produced were superbly chosen, complimenting these metal colours perfectly. In recent years, thanks to their undeniable beauty, rarity, and uniqueness, Stella-dial Day-Date watches have risen to cult status among Rolex aficionados.

This superlative Day-Date delivered in 1986 bears the 18039 reference, which was released between 1977 and 1988. The fifth digit number of the reference - in this case 9 - indicates the metal of the watchcase: 18 carat white gold.

The rare and gorgeous turquoise “Lacquered Stella” dial found in this Rolex Day-Date in white gold with sapphire crystal is further enriched with 8 round cut and 2 baguette-cut diamonds.

Since 1977, Day-Date models beginning with reference 18000, are fitted with sapphire crystals, which replace the traditional Esalite glass (an elastic easy to polish plexiglass). In order to house this new glass, the bezel underwent a restyling. As a result, together with the screw-down case back and screw down crown, it is waterproof to 100 meters, which is equivalent to 330 feet.

GUIDE FOR PROSPECTIVE BUYERS

BUYING AT AUCTION

The following pages are designed to offer you information on how to buy at auction at Phillips. Our staff will be happy to assist you.

CONDITIONS OF SALE

The Conditions of Sale and Authorship Warranty which appear later in this catalogue govern the auction. Bidders are strongly encouraged to read them as they outline the legal relationship among Phillips, the seller and the buyer and describe the terms upon which property is bought at auction. Please be advised that Phillips generally acts as agent for the seller. Bidders should also read the Important Notices immediately following this Guide for Prospective Buyers.

BUYER'S PREMIUM AND VAT

Phillips charges the successful bidder a commission, or buyer's premium, on the hammer price of each lot sold. The buyer's premium is payable by the buyer as part of the total purchase price at the following rates: 25% of the hammer price up to and including CHF100,000, 20% of the portion of the hammer price above CHF100,000 up to and including CHF2,000,000 and 12% of the portion of the hammer price above CHF2,000,000.

Value added tax (VAT) of 8% is payable on the hammer price and the buyer's premium. This tax is refunded to any buyer domiciled outside Switzerland if, but only if, Phillips receives from such buyer an export declaration in respect of a purchased lot which has been stamped by Swiss customs.

The purchase price payable for any lot is the sum of the hammer price plus the buyer's premium plus VAT.

1 PRIOR TO AUCTION

Catalogue Subscriptions

If you would like to purchase a catalogue for this auction or any other Phillips sale, please contact us at +41 22 317 8181, +44 20 7318 4010 or +1 212 940 1240.

Pre-Sale Estimates

Pre-sale estimates are intended as a guide for prospective buyers. Any bid within the high and low estimate range should, in our opinion, offer a chance of success. However, many lots achieve prices below or above the pre-sale estimates. Where 'Estimate on Request' appears, please contact the specialist department for further information. It is advisable to contact us closer to the time of the auction as estimates can be subject to revision. Pre-sale estimates do not include the buyer's premium or VAT.

Pre-Sale Estimates in US Dollars and Euros

Although the sale is conducted in Swiss francs, the pre-sale estimates in the auction catalogues may also be printed in US dollars and/or euros. Since the exchange rate is that at the time of catalogue production and not at the date of auction, you should treat estimates in US dollars or euros as a guide only.

Catalogue Entries

Phillips may print in the catalogue entry the history of ownership of a work of art, as well as the exhibition history of the property and references to the work in art publications. While we are careful in the cataloguing process, provenance, exhibition and literature references may not be exhaustive and in some cases we may intentionally refrain from disclosing the identity of previous owners. Please note that all dimensions of the property set forth in the catalogue entry are approximate.

Condition of Lots

Our catalogues include references to condition only in the descriptions of multiple works (e.g., prints). Such references, though, do not amount to a full description of condition. The absence of reference to the condition of a lot in the catalogue entry does not imply that the lot is free from faults or imperfections. Solely as a convenience to clients, Phillips may provide condition reports. In preparing such reports, our specialists assess the condition in a manner appropriate to the estimated value of the property. While condition reports are prepared honestly and carefully, our staff are not professional restorers. We therefore encourage all prospective buyers to inspect the property at the pre-sale exhibitions and recommend, particularly in the case of any lot of significant value, that you retain your own restorer or professional advisor to report to you on the property's condition prior to bidding. Moreover, condition reports are not exhaustive and may not specify all mechanical replacements or imperfections to the movement, case, dial, pendulum, separate bases(s) or dome. The absence of a condition report or the absence of a reference to damage in the catalogue does not imply that the lot is in good condition, working order or free from restoration or repair.

Pre-Auction Viewing

Pre-auction viewings are open to the public and free of charge. Our specialists are available to give advice and condition reports at viewings or by appointment.

Symbol Key

The following key explains the symbols you may see inside this catalogue.

O ♦ Guaranteed Property

The seller of lots designated with the symbol O has been guaranteed a minimum price financed solely by Phillips. Where the guarantee is provided by a third party or jointly by us and a third party, the property will be denoted with the symbols O ♦. When a third party has financed all or part of our financial interest in a lot, it assumes all or part of the risk that the lot will not be sold and will be remunerated accordingly. The compensation will be a fixed fee, a percentage of the hammer price or the buyer's premium or some combination of the foregoing. The third party may bid on the guaranteed lot during the auction. If the third party is the successful bidder, the remuneration may be netted against the final purchase price. If the lot is not sold, the third party may incur a loss.

Δ Property in which Phillips has an Ownership Interest

Lots with this symbol indicate that Phillips owns the lot in whole or in part or has an economic interest in the lot equivalent to an ownership interest.

● No Reserve

Unless indicated by a ●, all lots in this catalogue are offered subject to a reserve. A reserve is the confidential value established between Phillips and the seller and below which a lot may not be sold. The reserve for each lot is generally set at a percentage of the low estimate and will not exceed the low pre-sale estimate.

Σ Endangered Species

Lots with this symbol have been identified at the time of cataloguing as containing endangered or other protected species of wildlife which may be subject to restrictions regarding export or import and which may require permits for export as well as import. Please refer to Paragraph 4 of the Guide for Prospective Buyers and Paragraph 11 of the Conditions of Sale.

▼ Restricted Importation

Lots with this symbol may be subject to importation restriction in the US. Please refer to the Important Notices which appear in this catalogue immediately following this Guide for Prospective Buyers.

possible price taking into account the reserve and other bidders. Always indicate a maximum bid, excluding the buyer's premium and VAT. Unlimited bids will not be accepted. Any absentee bid must be received at least 24 hours in advance of the sale. In the event of identical bids, the earliest bid received will take precedence.

Employee Bidding

Employees of Phillips and our affiliated companies, including the huissier or the auctioneer (the 'Auctioneer'), may bid at the auction by placing absentee bids so long as they do not know the reserve when submitting their absentee bids and otherwise comply with our employee bidding procedures.

Bidding Increments

Bidding generally opens below the low estimate and advances in increments of up to 10%, subject to the Auctioneer's discretion. Absentee bids that do not conform to the increments set below may be lowered to the next bidding increment.

3 THE AUCTION

Conditions of Sale

As noted above, the auction is governed by the Conditions of Sale and Authorship Warranty. All prospective bidders should read them carefully. They may be amended by saleroom addendum or Auctioneer's announcement.

Interested Parties Announcement

In situations where a person allowed to bid on a lot has a direct or indirect interest in such lot, such as the beneficiary or executor of an estate selling the lot, a joint owner of the lot or a party providing or participating in a guarantee on the lot, Phillips will make an announcement in the saleroom that interested parties may bid on the lot.

Consecutive and Responsive Bidding; No Reserve Lots

The Auctioneer may open the bidding on any lot by placing a bid on behalf of the seller. The Auctioneer may further bid on behalf of the seller up to the amount of the reserve by placing consecutive bids or bids in response to other bidders. If a lot is offered without reserve, unless there are already competing absentee bids, the Auctioneer will generally open the bidding at 50% of the lot's low pre-sale estimate. In the absence of a bid at that level, the Auctioneer will proceed backwards at his or her discretion until a bid is recognized and will then advance the bidding from that amount. Absentee bids on no reserve lots will, in the absence of a higher bid, be executed at approximately 50% of the low pre-sale estimate or at the amount of the bid if it is less than 50% of the low pre-sale estimate. If there is no bid whatsoever on a no reserve lot, the Auctioneer may deem such lot unsold.

4 AFTER THE AUCTION

Payment

Buyers are required to pay for purchases immediately following the auction unless other arrangements have been agreed with Phillips in writing in advance of the sale. Payment must be made in Swiss francs either by cash, check drawn on a Swiss bank or wire transfer, as noted in Paragraph 6 of the Conditions of Sale. It is our corporate policy not to make or accept single or multiple payments in cash or cash equivalents in excess of the local currency equivalent of US$10,000.

Credit Cards

As a courtesy to clients, Phillips will accept American Express, Visa and MasterCard to pay for invoices of CHF100,000 or less. A processing fee will apply.

Collection

It is our policy to request proof of identity on collection of a lot. A lot will be released to the buyer or the buyer's authorized representative when Phillips has received full and cleared payment and we are not owed any other amount by the buyer. After the auction, all lots will be kept at our premises.

Loss or Damage

Buyers are reminded that Phillips accepts liability for loss or damage to lots for a maximum of seven days following the auction.

Transport and Shipping

As a free service for buyers, Phillips will wrap purchased lots for hand carry only. We do not provide packing, handling or shipping services directly. However, we will coordinate with shipping agents instructed by you in order to facilitate the packing, handling and shipping of property purchased at Phillips. Please refer to Paragraph 7 of the Conditions of Sale for more information.

Export and Import Licences

Before bidding for any property, prospective bidders are advised to make independent enquiries as to whether a licence is required to export the property from Switzerland or to import it into another country. It is the buyer's sole responsibility to comply with all import and export laws and to obtain any necessary licences or permits. The denial of any required licence or permit or any delay in obtaining such documentation will not justify the cancellation of the sale or any delay in making full payment for the lot.

Endangered Species

Items made of or incorporating plant or animal material, such as coral, crocodile, ivory, whalebone, Brazilian rosewood, rhinoceros horn or tortoiseshell, irrespective of age, percentage or value, may require a licence or certificate prior to exportation and additional licences or certificates upon importation to the US or to any country within or outside the European Union (EU). Please note that the ability to obtain an export licence or certificate does not ensure the ability to obtain an import licence or certificate in another country, and vice versa. We suggest that prospective bidders check with their own government regarding wildlife import requirements prior to placing a bid. It is the buyer's sole responsibility to obtain any necessary export or import licences or certificates as well as any other required documentation. Please note that the US prohibits the importation of any item containing African elephant ivory. Asian elephant ivory may be imported in to the US only if accompanied by independent scientific analysis regarding continent of origin and confirmation the object is more than 100 years old. We have not obtained a scientific analysis on any lot prior to sale and cannot indicate whether elephant ivory in a particular lot is African or Asian elephant. Buyers purchase these lots at their own risk and will be responsible for the costs of obtaining any scientific analysis or other report required in connection with their proposed import of such property into the US.

With regard to any item containing endangered species other than elephant ivory, an importer into the US must provide documented evidence of the species identification and age of an object in order to demonstrate that the object qualifies as an antique. This will require the buyer to obtain an independent appraisal certifying the species of endangered material on the object and certifying that the object is not less than 100 years of age. A prospective buyer planning to import an object into the US may not rely on Phillips cataloguing to establish the species of endangered material on the object or to establish the age of the object and must consult with a qualified independent appraiser prior to placing a bid on the lot.

Please note that lots containing potentially regulated plant or animal material are marked as a convenience to our clients, but Phillips does not accept liability for errors or for failing to mark lots containing protected or regulated species.

IMPORTANT NOTICES

Condition

Phillips makes no representation or warranty that any watch or clock is in working order, and no catalogue description of any lot should be construed as so stating. Prospective buyers are advised to have watches and clocks checked by a competent watchmaker or watch or clock restorer before use. As a service to prospective buyers, we may provide a description of the condition of watches and clocks in the catalogue entry, including references to defects and repairs, and furnish a condition report, but such information is not necessarily complete and may not specify all mechanical replacements, restorations or defects. Please note that Phillips does not guarantee the authenticity of any individual components parts, such as wheels, hands, crowns, crystals, screws, bracelets and leather bands, since prior repairs and restoration work may have resulted in the replacement of original parts. Nor does Phillips warrant that watches in water-resistant cases are currently water-resistant. Prospective buyers should inspect all watches and clocks prior to the auction to evaluate the condition of property offered for sale.

Importation of Watches into the US

Prospective buyers should be aware that the importation of luxury watches such as Rolex into the US is highly restricted. These watches (not limited to Rolex) may not be shipped into the US and may only be imported personally. US customs regulations generally limit the importation of luxury watches to one per buyer. Lots marked with ▼ are subject to these restrictions. A purchaser's inability to import a luxury watch into the US or Phillips's failure to mark a lot with ▼ shall not constitute grounds for non-payment or cancellation of the sale.

Exportation of Watch Bands Incorporating Material from Endangered Species

Some of the watches offered for sale in the catalogue may have bands made of endangered or protected animal materials, such as alligator or crocodile, and may not lawfully be exported from the auction site without a CITES export permit. As explained in Paragraph 4 of the Guide for Prospective Buyers, these lots are marked with ∑ in the catalogue. Accordingly, for purchased watches that are to be shipped out of the sale site for delivery, Phillips may need to remove and retain the band before shipping the watch and buckle.

CONDITIONS OF SALE

The Conditions of Sale and Authorship Warranty set forth below govern the relationship between bidders and buyers, on the one hand, and Phillips and sellers, on the other hand. All prospective buyers should read these Conditions of Sale, the Important Notices immediately following the Guide for Prospective Buyers and the Authorship Warranty carefully before bidding.

1 INTRODUCTION

Each lot in this catalogue is offered for sale and sold subject to: (a) the Conditions of Sale and Authorship Warranty; (b) additional notices and terms printed in other places in this catalogue, including the Guide for Prospective Buyers and Important Notices and (c) supplements to this catalogue or other written material posted by Phillips in the saleroom, in each case as amended by any addendum or announcement by the auctioneer prior to the auction.

By bidding at the auction, whether in person, through an agent, by written bid, by telephone bid or other means, bidders and buyers agree to be bound by these Conditions of Sale, as so changed or supplemented, and Authorship Warranty.

These Conditions of Sale, as so changed or supplemented, and Authorship Warranty contain all the terms on which Phillips and the seller contract with the buyer.

2 PHILLIPS AS AGENT

Phillips acts as an agent for the seller, unless otherwise indicated in this catalogue or at the time of auction. On occasion, Phillips may own a lot directly, in which case we will act in a principal capacity as a consignor, or a company affiliated with Phillips may own a lot, in which case we will act as agent for that company, or Phillips or an affiliated company may have a legal, beneficial or financial interest in a lot as a secured creditor or otherwise.

3 CATALOGUE DESCRIPTIONS AND CONDITION OF PROPERTY

Lots are sold subject to the Authorship Warranty, as described in the catalogue (unless such description is changed or supplemented, as provided in Paragraph 1 above) and in the condition that they are in at the time of the sale on the following basis.

(a) The knowledge of Phillips in relation to each lot is partially dependent on information provided to us by the seller, and Phillips is not able to and does not carry out exhaustive due diligence on each lot. Prospective buyers acknowledge this fact and accept responsibility for carrying out inspections and investigations to satisfy themselves as to the lots in which they may be interested. Notwithstanding the foregoing, we shall exercise such reasonable care when making express statements in catalogue descriptions or condition reports as is consistent with our role as auctioneer of lots in this sale and in light of (i) the information provided to us by the seller, (ii) scholarship and technical knowledge and (iii) the generally accepted opinions of relevant experts, in each case at the time any such express statement is made.

(b) Each lot offered for sale at Phillips is available for inspection by prospective buyers prior to the auction. Phillips accepts bids on lots on the basis that bidders (and independent experts on their behalf, to the extent appropriate given the nature and value of the lot and the bidder's own expertise) have fully inspected the lot prior to bidding and have satisfied themselves as to both the condition of the lot and the accuracy of its description.

(c) Prospective buyers acknowledge that many lots are of an age and type which means that they are not in perfect condition. As a courtesy to clients, Phillips may prepare and provide condition reports to assist prospective buyers when they are inspecting lots. Catalogue descriptions and condition reports may make reference to particular imperfections of a lot, but bidders should note that lots may have other faults not expressly referred to in the catalogue or condition report. All dimensions are approximate. Illustrations are for identification purposes only and cannot be used as precise indications of size or to convey full information as to the actual condition of lots.

(d) Information provided to prospective buyers in respect of any lot, including any pre-sale estimate, whether written or oral, and information in any catalogue, condition or other report, commentary or valuation, is not a representation of fact but rather a statement of opinion held by Phillips. Any pre-sale estimate may not be relied on as a prediction of the selling price or value of the lot and may be revised from time to time by Phillips at our absolute discretion. Neither Phillips nor any of our affiliated companies shall be liable for any difference between the pre-sale estimates for any lot and the actual price achieved at auction or upon resale.

4 BIDDING AT AUCTION

(a) Phillips has absolute discretion to refuse admission to the auction or participation in the sale. All bidders must register for a paddle prior to bidding, supplying such information and references as required by Phillips.

(b) As a convenience to bidders who cannot attend the auction in person, Phillips may, if so instructed by the bidder, execute written absentee bids on a bidder's behalf.

Absentee bidders are required to submit bids on the 'Absentee Bid Form', a copy of which is printed in this catalogue or otherwise available from Phillips. Bids must be placed in the currency of the sale. The bidder must clearly indicate the maximum amount he or she intends to bid, excluding the buyer's premium and value added tax (VAT). The huissier or auctioneer (the 'Auctioneer') will not accept an instruction to execute an absentee bid which does not indicate such maximum bid. Our staff will attempt to execute an absentee bid at the lowest possible price taking into account the reserve and other bidders. Any absentee bid must be received at least 24 hours in advance of the sale. In the event of identical bids, the earliest bid received will take precedence.

(c) Telephone bidders are required to submit bids on the 'Telephone Bid Form', a copy of which is printed in this catalogue or otherwise available from Phillips. Telephone bidding is available for lots whose low pre-sale estimate is at least CHF1000. Phillips reserves the right to require written confirmation of a successful bid from a telephone bidder by fax or otherwise immediately after such bid is accepted by the Auctioneer. Telephone bids may be recorded and, by bidding on the telephone, a bidder consents to the recording of the conversation.

(d) Bidders may participate in an auction by bidding online through Phillips's online live bidding platform available on our website at www.phillips.com. To bid online, bidders must register online at least 24 hours before the start of the auction. Online bidding is subject to approval by Phillips's bid department in our sole discretion. As noted in Paragraph 3 above, Phillips encourages online bidders to inspect prior to the auction any lot(s) on which they may bid, and condition reports are available upon request. Bidding in a live auction can progress quickly. To ensure that online bidders are not placed at a disadvantage when bidding against bidders in the room or on the telephone, the procedure for placing bids through Phillips's online bidding platform is a one-step process. By clicking the bid button on the computer screen, a bidder submits a bid. Online bidders acknowledge and agree that bids so submitted are final and may not under any circumstances be amended or retracted. During a live auction, when bids other than online bids are placed, they will be displayed on the online bidder's computer screen as 'floor,' 'phone' or 'paddle no' bids. 'Floor' bids include bids made by the Auctioneer to protect the reserve. In the event that an online bid and a 'floor' or 'phone' bid are identical, the 'floor' or 'phone' bid will take precedence. The next bidding increment is shown for the convenience of online bidders under the bid button. The bidding increment available to online bidders may vary from the next bid actually taken by the Auctioneer, as the Auctioneer may deviate from Phillips's standard increments at any time at his or her discretion, but an online bidder may only place a bid in a whole bidding increment. Phillips's bidding increments are published in the Guide for Prospective Buyers.

(e) When making a bid, whether in person, by absentee bid, on the telephone or online, a bidder accepts personal liability to pay the purchase price, as described more fully in Paragraph 6 (a) below, plus all other applicable charges unless it has been explicitly agreed in writing with Phillips before the commencement of the auction that the bidder is acting as agent on behalf of an identified third party acceptable to Phillips and that we will only look to the principal for such payment.

(f) By participating in the auction, whether in person, by absentee bid, on the telephone or online, each prospective buyer represents and warrants that any bids placed by such person, or on such person's behalf, are not the product of any collusive or other anti-competitive agreement and are otherwise consistent with federal and state antitrust law.

(g) Arranging absentee, telephone and online bids is a free service provided by Phillips to prospective buyers. While we undertake to exercise reasonable care in undertaking such activity, we cannot accept liability for failure to execute such bids except where such failure is caused by our willful misconduct.

(h) Employees of Phillips and our affiliated companies, including the Auctioneer, may bid at the auction by placing absentee bids so long as they do not know the reserve when submitting their absentee bids and otherwise comply with our employee bidding procedures.

5 CONDUCT OF THE AUCTION

(a) Unless otherwise indicated by the symbol *, each lot is offered subject to a reserve, which is the confidential minimum selling price agreed by Phillips with the seller. The reserve will not exceed the low pre-sale estimate at the time of the auction.

(b) The Auctioneer has discretion at any time to refuse any bid, withdraw any lot, re-offer a lot for sale (including after the fall of the hammer) if he or she believes there may be error or dispute and take such other action as he or she deems reasonably appropriate. Phillips shall have no liability whatsoever for any such action taken by the Auctioneer. If any dispute arises after the sale, our sale record is conclusive. The Auctioneer may accept bids made by a company affiliated with Phillips provided that the bidder does not know the reserve placed on the lot.

(c) The Auctioneer will commence and advance the bidding at levels and in increments he or she considers appropriate. In order to protect the reserve on any lot, the Auctioneer may place one or more bids on behalf of the seller up to the reserve without indicating he or she is doing so, either by placing consecutive bids or bids in response to other bidders. If a lot is offered without reserve, unless there are already competing absentee bids, the Auctioneer will generally open the bidding at 50% of the lot's low pre-sale estimate. In the absence of a bid at that level, the Auctioneer will proceed backwards at his or her discretion until a bid is recognized and will then advance the bidding from that amount. Absentee bids on no reserve lots will, in the absence of a higher bid, be executed at approximately 50% of the low pre-sale estimate or at the amount of the bid if it is less than 50% of the low pre-sale estimate. If there is no bid whatsoever on a no reserve lot, the Auctioneer may deem such lot unsold.

(d) The sale will be conducted in Swiss francs and payment is due in Swiss francs. For the benefit of international clients, pre-sale estimates in the auction catalogue may be shown in US dollars and/or euros and, if so, will reflect approximate exchange rates. Accordingly, estimates in US dollars or euros should be treated only as a guide. If a currency converter is operated during the sale, it is done so as a courtesy to bidders, but Phillips accepts no responsibility for any errors in currency conversion calculation.

(e) Subject to the Auctioneer's reasonable discretion, the highest bidder accepted by the Auctioneer will be the buyer and the striking of the hammer marks the acceptance of the highest bid and the conclusion of a contract for sale between the seller and the buyer. Risk and responsibility for the lot passes to the buyer as set forth in Paragraph 7 below.

(f) If a lot is not sold, the Auctioneer will announce that it has been 'passed', 'withdrawn', 'returned to owner' or 'bought-in'.

(g) Any post-auction sale of lots offered at auction shall incorporate these Conditions of Sale and Authorship Warranty as if sold in the auction.

6 PURCHASE PRICE AND PAYMENT

(a) The buyer agrees to pay us, in addition to the hammer price of the lot, the buyer's premium, plus any applicable value added tax (VAT) (the 'Purchase Price'). The buyer's premium is 25% of the hammer price up to and including CHF100,000, 20% of the portion of the hammer price above CHF100,000 up to and including CHF2,000,000 and 12% of the portion of the hammer price above CHF2,000,000. Phillips reserves the right to pay from our compensation an introductory commission to one or more third parties for assisting in the sale of property offered and sold at auction.

(b) VAT of 8% is payable on the hammer price plus buyer's premium. This tax is refunded to any buyer domiciled outside Switzerland if, but only if, Phillips receives from such buyer an export declaration in respect of a purchased lot which has been stamped by Swiss customs. All prices, fees, charges and expenses set out in these Conditions of Sale are quoted exclusive of VAT.

(c) Unless otherwise agreed, a buyer is required to pay for a purchased lot immediately following the auction regardless of any intention to obtain an export or import license or other permit for such lot. Payments must be made by the invoiced party in Swiss francs either by cash, check drawn on a Swiss bank or wire transfer, as follows:

(i) Phillips will accept payment in cash provided that the total amount paid in cash or cash equivalents does not exceed the local currency equivalent of US$10,000.

(ii) Personal checks and banker's drafts are accepted if drawn on a Swiss bank and the buyer provides to us acceptable government-issued identification. Checks and banker's drafts should be made payable to "Phillips". If payment is sent by post, please send the checks or banker's draft to the attention of the Client Accounting Department at Quai de l'Île 15, 1204 Genève, Switzerland, and ensure that the sale number is written on the check. Checks or banker's drafts drawn by third parties will not be accepted.

(iii) Payment by wire transfer may be sent directly to Phillips. Bank transfer details will be provided on the Invoice for purchased lots.

(d) As a courtesy to clients, Phillips will accept American Express, Visa and MasterCard to pay for invoices of CHF100,000 or less. A processing fee will apply.

(e) Title in a purchased lot will not pass until Phillips has received the Purchase Price for that lot in cleared funds. Phillips is not obliged to release a lot to the buyer until title in the lot has passed and appropriate identification has been provided, and any earlier release does not affect the passing of title or the buyer's unconditional obligation to pay the Purchase Price.

7 COLLECTION OF PROPERTY

(a) Phillips will not release a lot to the buyer until we have received payment of its Purchase Price in full in cleared funds, the buyer has paid all outstanding amounts due to Phillips or any of our affiliated companies, including any charges payable pursuant to Paragraph 8 (a) below, and the buyer has satisfied such other terms as we in our sole discretion shall require, including completing any anti-money laundering or anti-terrorism financing checks. As soon as a buyer has satisfied all of the foregoing conditions, he or she should contact us at +41 22 317 8181 to arrange for collection of purchased property.

(b) The buyer must arrange for collection of a purchased lot within seven days of the date of the auction. After the auction, all lots will be kept at our premises. Purchased lots are at the buyer's risk, including the responsibility for insurance, from (i) the date of collection or (ii) seven days after the auction, whichever is the earlier. Until risk passes, Phillips will compensate the buyer for any loss or damage to a purchased lot up to a maximum of the Purchase Price paid, subject to our usual exclusions for loss or damage to property.

(c) As a courtesy to clients, Phillips will, without charge, wrap purchased lots for hand carry only. We do not provide packing, handling, insurance or shipping services. We will coordinate with shipping agents instructed by the buyer, whether or not recommended by Phillips, in order to facilitate the packing, handling, insurance and shipping of property bought at Phillips. Any such instruction is entirely at the buyer's risk and responsibility, and we will not be liable for acts or omissions of third party packers or shippers.

(d) Phillips will require presentation of government-issued identification prior to release of a lot to the buyer or the buyer's authorized representative.

8 FAILURE TO COLLECT PURCHASES

(a) If the buyer pays the Purchase Price but fails to collect a purchased lot within 30 days of the auction, the buyer will incur a late collection fee of CHF10 per day for each uncollected lot. We will not release purchased lots to the buyer until all such charges have been paid in full.

(b) If a purchased lot is paid for but not collected within six months of the auction, the buyer authorizes Phillips, upon notice, to arrange a resale of the item by auction or private sale, with estimates and a reserve set at Phillips's reasonable discretion. The proceeds of such sale will be applied to pay for storage charges and any other outstanding costs and expenses owed by the buyer to Phillips or our affiliated companies and the remainder will be forfeited unless collected by the buyer within two years of the original auction.

9 REMEDIES FOR NON-PAYMENT

(a) Without prejudice to any rights the seller may have, if the buyer without prior agreement fails to make payment of the Purchase Price for a lot in cleared funds within seven days of the auction, Phillips may in our sole discretion exercise one or more of the following remedies: (i) store the lot at Phillips's premises or elsewhere at the buyer's sole risk and expense; (ii) cancel the sale of the lot, retaining any partial payment of the Purchase Price as liquidated damages; (iii) reject future bids from the buyer or render such bids subject to payment of a deposit; (iv) charge interest at 12% per annum from the date payment became due until the date the Purchase Price is received in cleared funds; (v) subject to notification of the buyer, exercise a lien over any of the buyer's property which is in the possession of Phillips and instruct our affiliated companies to exercise a lien over any of the buyer's property which is in their possession and, in each case, no earlier than 30 days from the date of such notice arrange the sale of such property and apply the proceeds to the amount owed to Phillips or any of our affiliated companies after the deduction from sale proceeds of our standard vendor's commission, all sale-related expenses and any applicable taxes thereon; (vi) resell the lot by auction or private sale, with estimates and a reserve set at Phillips's reasonable discretion, it being understood that in the event such resale is for less than the original hammer price and buyer's premium for that lot, the buyer will remain liable for the shortfall together with all costs incurred in such resale; (vii) commence legal proceedings to recover the hammer price and buyer's premium for that lot, together with interest and the costs of such proceedings; (viii) set off the outstanding amount remaining unpaid by the buyer against any amounts which we or any of our affiliated companies may owe the buyer in any other transactions; (ix) release the name and address of the buyer to the seller to enable the seller to commence legal proceedings to recover the amounts due and legal costs; or (x) take such other action as we deem necessary or appropriate.

(b) The buyer irrevocably authorizes Phillips to exercise a lien over the buyer's property which is in our possession upon notification by any of our affiliated companies that the buyer is in default of payment. Phillips will notify the buyer of any such lien. The buyer also irrevocably authorizes Phillips, upon notification by any of our affiliated companies that the buyer is in default of payment, to pledge the buyer's property in our possession by actual or constructive delivery to our affiliated company as security for the payment of any outstanding amount due. Phillips will notify the buyer if the buyer's property has been delivered to an affiliated company by way of pledge.

(c) If the buyer is in default of payment, the buyer irrevocably authorizes Phillips to instruct any of our affiliated companies in possession of the buyer's property to deliver the property by way of pledge as the buyer's agent to a third party instructed by Phillips to hold the property on our behalf as security for the payment of the Purchase Price and any other amount due and, no earlier than 30 days from the date of written notice to the buyer, to sell the property in such manner and for such consideration as can reasonably be obtained on a forced sale basis and to apply the proceeds to any amount owed to Phillips or any of our affiliated companies after the deduction from sale proceeds of our standard vendor's commission, all sale-related expenses and any applicable taxes thereon.

10 RESCISSION BY PHILLIPS

Phillips shall have the right, but not the obligation, to rescind a sale without notice to the buyer if we reasonably believe that there is a material breach of the seller's representations and warranties or the Authorship Warranty or an adverse claim is made by a third party. Upon notice of Phillips election to rescind the sale, the buyer will promptly return the lot to Phillips, and we will then refund the Purchase Price paid to us. As described more fully in Paragraph 13 below, the refund shall constitute the sole remedy and recourse of the buyer against Phillips and the seller with respect to such rescinded sale.

11 EXPORT, IMPORT AND ENDANGERED SPECIES LICENCES AND PERMITS

Before bidding for any property, prospective buyers are advised to make their own enquiries as to whether a licence is required to export a lot from Switzerland or to import it into another country. Prospective buyers are advised that some countries prohibit the import of property made of or incorporating plant or animal material, such as coral, crocodile, ivory, whalebone, Brazilian rosewood, rhinoceros horn or tortoiseshell, irrespective of age, percentage or value. Accordingly, prior to bidding, prospective buyers considering export of purchased lots should familiarize themselves with relevant export and import regulations of the countries concerned. Please note that the US prohibits the importation of any item containing African elephant ivory. Asian elephant ivory may be imported in to the US only if accompanied by independent scientific analysis of continent of origin and confirmation the object is more than 100 years old.

With regard to any item containing endangered species other than elephant ivory, an importer into the US must provide documented evidence of the species identification and age of an object in order to demonstrate that the item qualifies as an antique. This will require the buyer to obtain an independent appraisal certify the species of endangered material on the object and certifying that the object is not less than 100 years of age. A prospective buyer planning to import an object containing endangered species into the US may not rely on Phillips cataloguing to establish the species of endangered material on the object or to establish the age of the object and must consult with a qualified independent appraiser prior to placing a bid on the lot.

It is solely the buyer's responsibility to comply with these laws and to obtain any necessary export, import and endangered species licences or permits. Failure to obtain a licence or permit or delay in so doing will not justify the cancellation of the sale or any delay in making full payment for the lot. As a courtesy to clients, Phillips has marked in the catalogue lots containing potentially regulated plant or animal material, but we do not accept liability for errors or for failing to mark lots containing protected or regulated species.

12 DATA PROTECTION

(a) In connection with the supply of auction and related services, or as required by law, Phillips may ask clients to provide personal data. Phillips may take and retain a copy of government-issued identification such as a passport or driving license. We will use your personal data (i) to provide auction and related services; (ii) to enforce these Conditions of Sale; (iii) to carry out identity and credit checks; (iv) to implement and improve the management and operations of our business and (v) for other purposes set out in our Privacy Policy published on the Phillips website at www.phillips.com (the "Privacy Policy") and available on request by emailing dataprotection@phillips.com. By agreeing to these Conditions of Sale, you consent our use of your personal data, including sensitive personal data, in accordance with the Privacy Policy. The personal data we may collect and process is listed, and sensitive personal data is defined, in our Privacy Policy. Phillips may also, from time to time, send you promotional and marketing materials about us and our services. If you would prefer not to receive such information, please email us at dataprotection@phillips.com. Please also email us at this address to receive information about your personal data or to advise us if the personal data we hold about you is inaccurate or out of date.

(b) In order to provide our services, we may disclose your personal data to third parties, including professional advisors, shippers and credit agencies. We will disclose, share with and transfer your personal data to Phillips's affiliated persons (natural or legal) for administration, sale and auction related purposes, including to persons outside the European Economic Area (EEA), where national laws may not provide an equivalent level of protection to personal data as that provided within the EEA. You expressly consent to such transfer of your personal data, including sensitive personal data, outside the EEA. We will not sell, rent or otherwise transfer any of your personal data to third parties except as otherwise expressly provided in this Paragraph 12.

(c) Phillips's premises may be subject to video surveillance and recording. Telephone calls (e.g., telephone bidding) may also be recorded. We may process that information in accordance with our Privacy Policy.

13 LIMITATION OF LIABILITY

(a) Subject to sub-paragraph (e) below, the total liability of Phillips, our affiliated companies and the seller to the buyer in connection with the sale of a lot shall be limited to the Purchase Price actually paid by the buyer for the lot.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this Paragraph 13, none of Phillips, any of our affiliated companies or the seller (i) is liable for any errors or omissions, whether orally or in writing, in information provided to prospective buyers by Phillips or any of our affiliated companies or (ii) accepts responsibility to any bidder in respect of acts or omissions, whether negligent or otherwise, by Phillips or any of our affiliated companies in connection with the conduct of the auction or for any other matter relating to the sale of any lot.

(c) All warranties other than the Authorship Warranty, express or implied, including any warranty of satisfactory quality and fitness for purpose, are specifically excluded by Phillips, our affiliated companies and the seller to the fullest extent permitted by law.

(d) Subject to sub-paragraph (e) below, none of Phillips, any of our affiliated companies or the seller shall be liable to the buyer for any loss or damage beyond the refund of the Purchase Price referred to in sub-paragraph (a) above, whether such loss or damage is characterised as direct, indirect, special, incidental or consequential, or for the payment of interest on the Purchase Price to the fullest extent permitted by law.

(e) No provision in these Conditions of Sale shall be deemed to exclude or limit the liability of Phillips or any of our affiliated companies to the buyer in respect of any fraud or fraudulent misrepresentation made by any of us or in respect of death or personal injury caused by our negligent acts or omissions.

14 COPYRIGHT

The copyright in all images, illustrations and written materials produced by or for Phillips relating to a lot, including the contents of this catalogue, is and shall remain at all times the property of Phillips and such images and materials may not be used by the buyer or any other party without our prior written consent. Phillips and the seller make no representations or warranties that the buyer of a lot will acquire any copyright or other reproduction rights in it.

15 GENERAL

(a) These Conditions of Sale, as changed or supplemented as provided in Paragraph 1 above, and Authorship Warranty set out the entire agreement between the parties with respect to the transactions contemplated herein and supersede all prior and contemporaneous written, oral or implied understandings, representations and agreements.

(b) Notices to Phillips shall be in writing and addressed to the department in charge of the sale, quoting the reference number specified at the beginning of the sale catalogue. Notices to clients shall be addressed to the last address notified by them in writing to Phillips.

(c) These Conditions of Sale are not assignable by any buyer without our prior written consent but are binding on the buyer's successors, assigns and representatives.

(d) Should any provision of these Conditions of Sale be held void, invalid or unenforceable for any reason, the remaining provisions shall remain in full force and effect. No failure by any party to exercise, nor any delay in exercising, any right or remedy under these Conditions of Sale shall act as a waiver or release thereof in whole or in part.

16 LAW AND JURISDICTION

(a) The rights and obligations of the parties with respect to these Conditions of Sale and Authorship Warranty, the conduct of the auction and any matters related to any of the foregoing shall be governed by and interpreted in accordance with Swiss law.

(b) For the benefit of Phillips, all bidders and sellers agree that the ordinary courts of the Canton of Geneva, Switzerland are to have exclusive jurisdiction to settle all disputes arising in connection with all aspects of all matters or transactions to which these Conditions of Sale and Authorship Warranty relate or apply, subject to appeal to the Federal Tribunal. All parties agree that Phillips shall retain the right to bring proceedings in any court other than the ordinary courts of the Canton of Geneva.

(c) All bidders and sellers irrevocably consent to service of process or any other documents in connection with proceedings in any court by facsimile transmission, personal service, delivery by mail or in any other manner permitted by Swiss law, the law of the place of service or the law of the jurisdiction where proceedings are instituted at the last address of the bidder or seller known to Phillips.

AUTHORSHIP WARRANTY

Phillips warrants the authorship of property in this auction catalogue described in headings in BOLD or CAPITALIZED type for a period of five years from date of sale by Phillips, subject to the exclusions and limitations set forth below and the Important Notices set out in this catalogue immediately following the Guide for Prospective Buyers.

(a) Phillips gives this Authorship Warranty only to the original buyer of record (i.e., the registered successful bidder) of any lot. This Authorship Warranty does not extend to (i) subsequent owners of the property, including purchasers or recipients by way of gift from the original buyer, heirs, successors, beneficiaries and assigns; (ii) property where the description in the catalogue states that there is a conflict of opinion on the authorship of the property; (iii) property where our attribution of authorship was on the date of sale consistent with the generally accepted opinions of specialists, scholars or other experts; (iv) property whose description or dating is proved inaccurate by means of scientific methods or tests not generally accepted for use at the time of the publication of the catalogue or which were at such time deemed unreasonably expensive or impractical to use or likely in our reasonable opinion to have caused damage or loss in value to the lot; or (v) property where there has been no material loss in value from the value of the lot had it been as described in the heading of the catalogue entry.

(b) In any claim for breach of the Authorship Warranty, Phillips reserves the right, as a condition to rescinding any sale under this warranty, to require the buyer to provide to us at the buyer's expense the written opinions of two recognized experts approved in advance by Phillips. We shall not be bound by any expert report produced by the buyer and reserve the right to consult our own experts at our expense. If Phillips agrees to rescind a sale under the Authorship Warranty, we shall refund to the buyer the reasonable costs charged by the experts commissioned by the buyer and approved in advance by us.

(c) Subject to the exclusions set forth in subparagraph (a) above, the buyer may bring a claim for breach of the Authorship Warranty provided that (i) he or she has notified Phillips in writing within three months of receiving any information which causes the buyer to question the authorship of the lot, specifying the auction in which the property was included, the lot number in the auction catalogue and the reasons why the authorship of the lot is being questioned and (ii) the buyer returns the lot to Phillips to the salesroom in which it was purchased in the same condition as at the time of its auction and is able to transfer good and marketable title in the lot free from any third party claim arising after the date of the auction. Phillips has discretion to waive any of the foregoing requirements set forth in this subparagraph (c) or subparagraph (b) above.

(d) The buyer understands and agrees that the exclusive remedy for any breach of the Authorship Warranty shall be rescission of the sale and refund of the original Purchase Price paid. This remedy shall constitute the sole remedy and recourse of the buyer against Phillips, any of our affiliated companies and the seller and is in lieu of any other remedy available as a matter of law or equity. This means that none of Phillips, any of our affiliated companies or the seller shall be liable for loss or damage beyond the remedy expressly provided in this Authorship Warranty, whether such loss or damage is characterized as direct, indirect, special, incidental or consequential, or for the payment of interest on the original Purchase Price.
